Priority Queue implementation in OpenWSN for Wireless Sensor Network

The computation power constrained environment for wireless sensor networks does not allow use of complex sorting algorithms such as heap sort. Other methods will be evaluated for flexible use of memory resources in wireless sensor network devices. In this thesis, the algorithms will be implemented in the sensor networks and real measurements will be conducted.

Murat Guersu (murat.guersu@tum.de)